EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
3rd December, 1857.

GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE, AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

I transmit herewith the biennial Report of the Comptroller of Public Accounts, for the years 1856 and 1857.

E. M. PEASE.

REPORT.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
AUSTIN, November 30th, 1857.

To the Governor of the State of Texas.

The period having arrived when it becomes my duty to report on the fiscal resources of the State, I submit the following Report which exhibits the general operations of this Department for the past two years, commencing on the 1st November, 1855, and ending on the 31st October, 1857.

It will be seen by the preceding statement, that the funds in the Treasury, on the 31st ult., applicable to governmental expenses, consisted altogether of U. S. Bonds. Indeed, the disbursements for the present month have been made from specie borrowed from the School Fund, which will have to be replaced from the proceeds of a sale of bonds.

This deficiency of specie arose from unforeseen and unanticipated causes. During the early part of the past month, I transmitted $100,000 in United States Bonds to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington, under his notice that stocks would be redeemed at a premium of six per cent., until the first of the present month. While the bonds were in transitu, and before reaching the Department, the Secretary had redeemed government stocks to the full extent authorized by law, and, consequently, refused to give specie for the bonds remitted. These bonds are now on deposit in the Treasury Department, subject to the order of the proper officers of the State.

Had the bonds remitted been redeemed, the present demands on the Treasury could have been met, until additional funds could be realized from the sale of $200,000 of bonds, which I advertised on the 9th ult.; but owing to the recent pressure in commercial and monetary affairs, I regard it as exceedingly doubtful whether any bids will be made, unless at a rate considerably below par. Should this be the case, I think the proper officers should be vested with a discretionary power, to make any other arrangement whereby a more favorable disposition could be made of the bonds, and thus be enabled to prevent a heavy loss in their disposal.

Having, on the 23d inst., addressed you specially on this subject, I consider it unnecessary to make any further observation at this time, but refer to said communication, a copy of which is hereto appended.

Leaving an estimated balance in the Treasury, on 31st Oct., 1858, of			306,014	85

From the result shown above it is now no longer a question of policy, but it becomes actually necessary, that the State should retain, in future, the revenue accruing from taxation to meet the indispensable expenses of the State government. Although the full amount of the appropriations heretofore made, may not be drawn during the next year, still, in arriving at a true condition of the Treasury, they must be taken into account. Thus, allowing for those appropriations, which will be drawn sooner or later, and for the necessary expenses of the State for the year ending October next, we have a balance remaining on hand, at that date, of only $306,014.85, out of which the expenditures of the State, from October, 1858, to June, 1859, (when the taxes of the former year become available,) must be borne.

From this condition of our finances, it is apparent that of the funds in the Treasury, the larger portion is required to meet existing appropriations, and others that will be made for ordinary State expenses, before any considerable amount of revenue can be received.

Assuming that the revenue from taxation will, in future, be applied to the disbursement of the expenses of the State, I have prepared, with much care, an analysis of the adequacy of the one, at present rates, to discharge the other, and, also, of the revenue at certain reduced rates to meet the expenses. These calculations will appear in a subsequent part of this Report, and to which attention is specially invited.

PUBLIC DEBT.

Under the provisions of an act approved February 2d, 1856, entitled "An Act to detect and prevent the payment of fraudulent certificates of public debt, and to provide for the collection of certain money due by the United States," I proceeded to the city of Washington to inspect and verify all claims presented for payment at the United States Treasury, under an act of Congress, approved February 28th, 1855, entitled "An Act to provide for the payment of such creditors of the late Republic of Texas, as are comprehended in the Act of September 9th, 1850," the conditions of which act were that in lieu of the five millions of dollars due the State under the provisions of an act of Congress known as the "Boundary Act," passed September 9th, 1850, an appropriation of $7,750,000 was made to pay pro rata certain creditors of the late Republic of Texas, whose claims were secured by a pledge of the impost and tonnage duties of said late Republic, which act was not to take effect until assented to by Texas, and which assent was given by legislative act, approved February 1st, 1856. The ostensible amount—principal and interest—to be discharged by the appropriation thus made, was $10,078,703.21, which gave a dividend of 76 cents and 895 thousandth of a cent on the dollar.

The amount which I have examined and verified to this time is $9,853,665.72, leaving yet to be presented $225,037.49.

I found the duties imposed by the examination, much more onerous than I anticipated; instead of merely certifying to the genuineness of the claim, the Secretary of the Treasury required me to re-state and re-audit all claims presented for payment at the Department, whether audited certificates,

Treasury notes, or stock bonds, computing all interest due thereon, and in fact stating entirely anew the condition of the whole debt—principal and interest. In doing this, however, every facility that I could desire was afforded.

The amount of counterfeit claims presented, although considerable, was not so large as was expected, owing no doubt to the fact, that proper means had been taken for their detection. From the information I had, measures were on foot for the perpetration of extensive frauds.

Whatever may have been the views of particular parties as to the policy of the State in agreeing to the act of Congress by which our indebtedness has been mainly discharged, it must nevertheless be a source of congratulation that we have been released from a burden which, to say the least, was annoying to us at home, and injurious to our standing abroad, and that too, accomplished without resort to taxation. It may now be said that we are out of debt, with a considerable surplus in the Treasury, a condition no other State can exhibit.

The amount paid by the State on the 8 and 10 per cent. Funded Debt, of February 5th, 1840, has been refunded by the United States, in accordance with the 2d section of the act of Congress before alluded to, and deposited in the State Treasury, as will fully appear by reference to statement "F," herewith accompanying.

The act of Congress under which our debt is settled at the United States Treasury, will expire by limitation on the 1st of January next, and all claims not then presented are by its provisions barred. I would, therefore, suggest that Congress be memorialized for an extension of time, or that the balance of the funds remaining in the Federal Treasury be transferred to Texas, for payment of the outstanding claims at the State Treasury.

The amount of 2d class claims, audited under the provisions of an act entitled "An Act to ascertain the legal claims for money and land against the State," approved August 1st, 1856, will form the subject of a joint report of the Commissioner of Claims and myself.

REVENUE—ITS REDUCTION AND OUTLAY.

A reduction in the present rates of taxation having been recommended by the Governor, in his message to the Legislature, and as the subject is entitled to due consideration, I have made minute calculations of the revenue to be derived from taxation during the next four years, at the present, and at the proposed reduced rates, and an estimate of the ordinary expenses of the government for the same period, which are appended as an addenda to statement "E," and from which the following results are gleaned.

The ordinary expenses of the government for the years 1858 and 1859, amount to $600,000, and for 1860 and 1861, to $634,460.

At the present rates of taxation, and by calculating on an increase of 8 per cent. in the revenue of 1858 over 1857, and of 10 per cent. in the revenue of 1859 over 1858, the nett revenue for these two years would amount to $595,409.10.

By allowing the above increase in the revenue of 1858 and 1859, and by reducing the ad valorem tax from 15 to 10 cents on the $100, and the poll tax from 50 to 40 cents, the nett revenue for these years would only amount to $421,332.51.

Again, allowing an increase of 10 per cent. in the revenue of 1860 over 1859, and a like increase in the revenue of 1861 over 1860, the nett revenue for those two years would amount to $716,907.29.

But allowing the increase of 10 per cent. in the revenue of the years 1860 and 1861, the nett revenue for those years at the reduced rates, would only amount to $510,629.88.

Thus, it appears, that the nett amount of revenue for the years 1858 and 1859, at present rates of taxation, falls short of the ordinary expenditures, during the same period, in the sum of $4,590.90, and that at the proposed rates, the nett amount of revenue for these years would not be sufficient to meet the expenditures by a sum of $178,667.49. It will further appear, that the nett revenue of 1860 and 1861, at present rates, would exceed the expenditures of those years to the extent of $82,447.29, while, at the reduced rates, the expenditures would exceed the nett revenue to the amount of $123,830.12.

The estimated ordinary expenses for the next four years amount to $1,234,460.00. The nett revenue, during the same period, at present rates, amounts to $1,312,316.39, and at proposed rates to $931,962.39, showing that the revenue for that period, at present rates of taxation, exceeds the expenditures in the amount of $77,856.39, but, at reduced rates, the revenue falls short of the expenditures to the extent of $302,497.61. It will likewise be seen that the difference between the revenue of the next four years, at present and at reduced rates would amount to $380,354.00, and that, at the reduced rates, it would not be adequate to meet the ordinary expenses of the government until the year 1862, all of which will appear from the following statement, the items of which are extracted from the Addenda to statement "E," above referred to, and of which inspection is invited.

COMPARISON OF REVENUE WITH ORDINARY EXPENDITURES OF THE GOVERNMENT.

During the above years, a small amount of revenue will be derived from various sources not herein enumerated; but as appropriations are likely to be made during the same time, which are not included in the estimate, the omission of both will not much affect the present calculations; as the revenue from such sources will, in all probability, cover the extra appropriations.

The revenue for the next four years, being added to the balance remaining in the Treasury on the 31st ult., and the expenses for the same period deducted therefrom, will leave a balance of $827,371.24 remaining in the Treasury on the 31st of October, 1861, calculating at the present rates of taxation; but by calculating at reduced rates, the balance then on hand would only amount to $447,017.24. Even these balances embrace the nett revenue of 1861, which will not be deposited in the Treasury until late in the following year, and which being deducted from the above balances would reduce them respectively to $451,848.04, and $179,544.44, as shown by the following statement.

INCREASE OF TAXABLE PROPERTY.

The increase in the total value of property within the last two years has been over $34,000,000, of which $10,200,000 has been in the value of lands and town lots; $14,100,000 in negroes; $5,200,000 in horses and cattle; and $4,500,000 in miscellaneous property, or an increase of 22 11-14 per cent. over the total value of property assessed in 1855, as appears from the following table, showing the aggregate value for each of the last six years; and the increase in amount, and per cent. of one year over the other.

The total number of acres of land rendered for assessment in 1856, falls short of the number rendered in 1855, in consequence of large quantities of lands, in some counties, not having been returned for assessment in 1856. A large quantity of these lands was rendered for assessment in 1857, for the taxes of that and the year 1856.

DEFECTS OF THE LAW FOR THE ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF TAXES.

In my Report of 1853, I suggested certain changes in the law regulating the assessment and collection of taxes, and I also called attention to the subject in my Report of 1855. Subsequent experience has only strengthened the belief that our present law is inadequate to the object of its enactment, and that the recommendations then made would, to a great extent, overcome existing evils and promote generally a more wholesome assessment and collection of the revenue.

It may not be out of place, on the present occasion, to recapitulate some of the remarks heretofore made in connection with this subject.

"The result of tax sales generally, and especially in countries where the titles to real estate are inchoative and unsettled, acts, in many cases, onerously on the original proprietor, and any system not injurious to the public revenue which could be devised to lessen such hardship, should be the duty of the government to adopt.

"It is a fact well known that individuals under cover of tax-titles, which protects them from the consequences of trespass, are in the habit of committing injuries to a ruinous extent, in the destruction of timber on property thus acquired for a mere nominal sum, and which they have no intention of ultimately holding. Thus the property of the minor heir who is incompetent to protect his interests; the absentee whose rights may be neglected by inattentive agents; and the honest citizen who renders a defective description of his property for taxation, sustain serious injuries in having their property greatly damaged, in consequence of the non-payment of an inconsiderable sum—not from any indisposition to discharge it, but from ignorance alone of its having been unpaid.

"To provide against abuses of this character being committed on the property of the unrepresented owner, I would propose a change in the present law, to the effect that all property on which taxes are not paid within the time defined by law, should be declared forfeited to the State, with the privilege, however, of allowing the owners to redeem, say, within seven or ten years, on payment of the original tax, with twenty-five or thirty per cent. additional per annum, for each year the party should neglect to pay the amount assessed on the property so forfeited, and all property not redeemed within the period established by law, should absolutely revert to the State, and all of the same, or such portion thereof as might be necessary to realize the amount due on such forfeited property, should, after due notice, be sold to the highest bidder; the proceeds to inure to the Treasury.

This recommendation, however, is only intended to apply to real estate. When property of a personal character is levied on, it should be disposed of, to the highest bidder, immediately on the non-payment of the tax, as provided for by existing laws.

Sales made, under an enactment of the character suggested, where the original proprietor could have due notice and ample time allowed to relieve his property from revenue liability, would tend greatly to render their effects binding; and it is conceived that but little doubt might be entertained of their final sanction by the Tribunals of the country. This fact once established, the amount due would be realized from the sale of an inconsiderable portion of the property in arrear; and the interest of the delinquent proprietor be regarded, without detriment to the public revenue.

"The existing law, as regards tax-sales, has an immoral tendency; as it encourages undue speculation without the return of a fair consideration, and although the first purchaser may not expect his title to ultimately stand the test of judicial scrutiny, he sells to a third and innocent party, at a greatly advanced price, before that fact is established, and thus leaves the unsuspecting purchaser the victim of his avarice.

If a party renders property for taxation in a county other than that in which the same is situated, the present law makes no provision for the enforcement of the taxes due thereon, in consequence of which I would suggest that property so assessed, on which the taxes should fail to be paid, if real estate, that the same be declared forfeited to the State, in like manner as I have previously recommended with regard to unrendered property, and be subject to redemption on the payment of similar penalties. If personal property, that the Assessor of the county where it is situated should, on the certificate of the non-payment of the tax by the officer of the county where the assessment was made, be authorized to collect such unpaid assessment by a sale of a sufficient portion of the delinquent's property, and make return thereof, as provided for in other cases.

"It is generally complained of, by the Assessors and Collectors, that their compensation is not adequate to the duties which they have to perform, and the result has been, that a number of our most competent officers have, in consequence, resigned. To lessen the labors of the Assessors to some extent, I would recommend that the present law on the subject of assessing be so altered as to authorize these officers to make known, by public notice, that at a certain time and place in each Justice's precinct, within their respective counties, they will attend for the purpose of receiving from the citizens thereof, a schedule of their taxable property, and all parties failing to respond to such notice, that the Assessor be authorized to charge a fee of fifty cents for having to visit the residence of such party, the same to be charged on the assessment rolls, and collected as other amounts are collected."

There is a great disproportion in the value of real estate, as rendered in the different counties, for taxation. In some instances it occurs that lands of equal quality, and perhaps adjoining, are rendered for assessment by two persons, who differ widely in the valuation. The value assigned by one may be equitable, while that of the other may be, and often is, much underneath the intrinsic value, or what he would be willing to take were he offering it for sale, hence the inequality of the contribution of both parties to the support of the government.

In remedy of this, I would propose that the assessment rolls of the different counties undergo a revision by the County Courts, as to the value assigned to property by the respective owners of real estate, and to enable the County Courts advisedly to make this revision, a Justice of the Peace, from each Beat, should attend the sessions of the Courts of their respective counties—the time for making which examination should be fixed by law, and where the Justice would make it appear to the satisfaction of the Court, that any of the property situated in his beat had been assessed at less than the real value, the County Court should have the power to make such additions thereto as in its judgment would be proper and equitable, and the assessment thus made should be as binding on the party rendering the property, as though it had been made or concurred in by himself.

The Justice, who is supposed to know the value of all real estate rendered by the citizens of his precinct, which is situated within his county, could not be presumed to know the value of that which might be rendered by them, lying in other counties, consequently the plan proposed for regulating the value of property assessed in the former case, would not be applicable to the assignment of value to property assessed in the latter instance.

I would therefore suggest, that all property rendered in one county, that is situated in another county, should have a minimum value affixed by law, and that the party should, as now, render the same under oath, but no return of property should be received at less than the minimum rate established.

By the adoption of such a system, the value of real estate rendered for taxation, would be more equitable and uniform, and the revenue derived therefrom greatly augmented.

I would also recommend that a minimum value be affixed by law, to real estate lying in as well as out of the county.

RAILROAD TAX.

I wish to call attention to the special tax, levied on property situated in Bexar county, for the benefit of the San Antonio and Mexican Gulf Railroad Company, under the provisions of the 12th section of the Act of Incorporation, approved Sept. 5th, 1850.

This tax, in many cases, and more especially by owners of property residing out of Bexar county, was reluctantly paid, and often under protest. The imposition of the tax was regarded by many, from the beginning, as unconstitutional. Under the circumstances, I referred the subject to the Attorney General for his legal opinion, and on examining the question, he found that the Supreme Court, in the case of the State vs. Swisher, held that all legislation which was dependent on a popular vote for its ratification, was unconstitutional, and as the act in question, or that portion of it under consideration, which provided that the county of Bexar and city of San Antonio might subscribe to the capital stock of the Company, to a given amount, in the event that such was the wish of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the county and city, to be determined by a popular vote, and as the levying of the tax was made contingent upon such vote, it was the opinion of that officer, that the principle decided in the case referred to was analogous to the one under consideration, and consequently the payment of the tax in question could not be enforced. I, therefore, instructed the Assessors and Collectors no longer to insist on the payment of the tax referred to; to receive it only from those who would voluntarily pay it. These remarks are superinduced by the fact that the amount collected for the past two years, has not been paid over to the Company, but remains in the State Treasury. The question is, what should be done with it—should it be returned to the parties by whom it was paid, or should the Company on whose account it was paid, receive it?

RAILROADS

But few of the railroad companies have reported the condition of their affairs, under the provisions of the act approved February 7th, 1853, entitled "An Act to regulate Railroad Companies" The only reports received that conform in any material respect to the requirements of said act, are those from the "Houston and Texas Central," and "Buffalo Bayou, Brazos and Colorado" Companies. I have notified the companies from whom reports are lacking, that unless they respond within the time specified by law, I will inform the Attorney General of the fact, that he may take such legal steps in the premises as are contemplated by the Statute.

AUSTIN LOTS.

The greater portion of the amount due on the sale of Austin city lots, made in October, 1855, has been paid by the purchasers, and the proceed deposited in the Treasury. A few lots have, however, been forfeited in consequence of non-payment in some instances of the second, and in others of the third instalment, and the result is that such failures, under the law, not only act as a forfeiture of the property, but likewise of the amounts which may have been paid.

The cause of the non-payment of these amounts as they matured, is not attributable to the want of inclination of the parties, or non-interest in the property, but to inability resulting, in a great extent, from the scarcity of money caused by the almost total failure of crops in this section for the past two seasons. Under the circumstances, and as an act of justice to the parties, I would recommend the enactment of a law extending the time for the payment of the balances due in such cases, for twelve or fifteen months; requiring new notes to be given, bearing interest from the time the instalments should have been paid, until the notes are taken up.

ASSESSMENT ROLLS—COMPARISON WITH ABSTRACT OF CLAIMS.

The thorough correctness and completeness of the abstract of land claims furnished by law, from the General Land Office, is the only basis upon which the present system of ascertaining by comparison between the abstract and the assessment rolls, what lands have been rendered for taxation, and by whom; and what liable to sale for non-payment, can be determined.

Since the printed copy of the abstract of claims was distributed amongst the Assessors, in 1853, returns have been received from the General Land Office, sufficient to form a volume of nearly the same size as the one already furnished. Each Assessor and Collector should be supplied with such extra lists, for the perfection of his assessment rolls; but as the present printed volume is very incomplete, from typographical and other inaccuracies; and as the expense of transcribing the extra returns up to date, for each Assessor's use, would be very great, I would suggest, that if the present system of comparison be continued, (and with correct data it is perfect,) a thorough revision be made of the abstract in its present printed form, and the addenda, up to 1857, included, and that an appropriation be made for the printing of such corrected returns, a copy of which should take the place of the very imperfect and incomplete abstract in the offices of our Assessors and Collectors.

Should this plan be adopted, not only would the assessment rolls be forwarded to this department in better form, and the difficulty of comparison lightened, but many tracts of land which have been duly paid upon, but cannot be identified on the abstract from its present imperfections, would be cleared from the possibility of sale.

I have deferred ordering any sales of such lands as appear from the comparisons of the abstract and assessment rolls to be liable for taxes; principally on account of the vagueness of the existing law in reference to such sales.

TEXAS STATE LIBRARY

The work of comparison progresses as rapidly and completely as the circumstances permit; but to keep pace with the yearly increase of the assessment returns, the services of at least two extra clerks, are absolutely necessary.

The great labor in compiling the report of this office requires the services of a first class clerk, and such the office has now, but who is not likely to remain unless an increase of compensation be made. I would therefore respectfully request, that the clerk employed in examining the assessment rolls, notifying the Assessors of errors in their returns, and compiling the annual and biennial Report of the Comptroller, be allowed the same compensation as chief-clerks. It is an important duty, requiring the services of a first class accountant, whose services are fully equal to the additional compensation asked.

The following statements from "A" to "G," together with those already given, present a view of the general operations of this office for the past two years. Any information, not herein contained, required by the Legislature, will be furnished promptly, and every facility afforded any committee charged with an inspection of the Books and Archives of this department.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
AUSTIN, Nov. 30th, 1857.

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE.
AUSTIN, November 23d, 1857.

To His Excellency E. M. Pease, Governor.

I wish to call your attention and that of the Legislature, to the condition of the funds in the Treasury.

In the early part of last month with your concurrence I forwarded, (and where they are now on deposit,) $100,000, U. S. Bonds, to the Secretary of the Treasury to be redeemed, under the notice that such would be done at six per cent. per annum, until the first of the present month; with this amount of coin the demands on the Treasury could have been met, until the money could have been realized from the $200,000 of bonds, which on the 9th of October last I advertised for sale in accordance with law.

During the transit of the bonds, and before they reached Washington, the Secretary of the Treasury had redeemed Government Stock to the full extent authorized by law, and consequently declined giving coin in exchange for the amount forwarded by the State. Such an event was entirely unlooked for and unanticipated.

The recent great commercial and monetary convulsion caused an unlooked for amount of Government securities to be presented for redemption.

So anxious was the department to assist in relieving the money market, and so eager the securities to convert them into coin, that even the officers of the Treasury themselves were surprised in casting up their accounts, at the large amount that had been redeemed. It was found even that the amount in the national treasury had been reduced below what was actually desirable.

Under the present condition of things therefore, there is no probability that the government will resume redeeming any of her stocks for some time to come, consequently, for the present at least, the State will have to dispose of whatever amount of bonds that may be necessary to procure coin for present uses, as best she can in the market.

The Treasury at present is without a dollar of coin to meet the expenses of government, and the payments that are now being made, are from the money belonging to the School Fund, which is liable to be called for by the counties at any time.

The law of the State regulating the sale of bonds, and under which the $200,000 is now advertised, requires such length of notice to be given, that the bids, (if we have any,) will not be opened until the 8th of next month, and the money could not be available here, if any, before the middle of the succeeding month.

In the present state of the money market, feverish and unsettled as it is, I regard it as exceedingly doubtful whether any bids will be made under the sale now advertised, unless at a rate considerably below par. Should such be the case, the question will occur what had best be done under the circumstances in that event, and in case the bonds cannot otherwise be sold advantageously in time to meet the wants of the Treasury.

I think perhaps with judicious management, that means, to within a fraction of the market value of the bonds could be obtained from capitalists for the purpose of remittance to Europe, as a medium of exchange, with the understanding that they were to be held for say ninety days before finally disposed of, and whatever excess they would then bring over the amount advanced, should accrue to the State, allowing the interest accumulating in the meantime on the bonds to innure to the parties with whom the negotiations might be made.

At the expiration of this time, it is likely that financial matters will be settled, and more easy, and the State would probably, by such a negotiation, thereby realize par, and perhaps a small premium on the bonds.

The foregoing suggestion is simply made for your consideration. Some other plan may occur to you more advisable. My object is to prevent too large a sacrifice of the bonds. After the lapse of a few months, when the derangement of the market, resulting from the late revulsion, shall have passed, I think the bonds can be readily converted into coin at par.

The State may have to dispose of a limited amount, as $100,000, as best she can to meet pressing demands; with this amount we can get along for the present, and if some such negotiations as those referred to could be effected, we might save considerably on the balance of the amount that will have to be sold. At all events, some immediate steps should be taken to place the Treasury in funds to a sufficient extent at least to meet pressing demands, and that too at an earlier period than it can be done from the sale of the bonds now advertised; for such are the requirements of the law authorizing their sale, that the proceeds cannot be anticipated with any certainty before she middle of January, even supposing that bids should be made which it might be thought advisable to accept.

Yours very respectfully,

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.

ADDENDA.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
AUSTIN, December 16th, 1857.

To his Excellency E. M. Pease, Governor,

SIR:—In compliance with a resolution of the Senate of the 9th inst., I herewith enclose a statement exhibiting the names of such Assessors and Collectors as are in default, and the amount for which they are delinquent, from the organization of the State Government up to the year 1855 inclusive; also the condition of the suits pending against said officers, so far as it is in the power of this office to do from the reports made by the District Attorneys.

From many of the districts no reports have been made; they are so meagre that but little information is furnished of the actual condition of the suits pending. I append to the enclosed statement a copy of a circular addressed to the District Attorneys, calling their attention to the requirements of the law on this subject. Some legislation requiring those officers to be more punctual in communicating the condition of suits for the recovery of money due the State, is necessary.

I would suggest that the District Clerks of the several counties be also required to report, at the termination of each session of the Courts, to this office, the condition of all suits instituted for the recovery of money due the State from defaulting officers in the respective counties. Such a report in connection with a similar one from the District Attorneys, would keep this office fully advised of the condition of all such prosecutions, besides being a check one upon the other.

I have the honor to be

Yours, very respectfully,

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
AUSTIN, December 16, 1857.

I certify the foregoing to be a correct exhibit of all the unsettled accounts of Assessors and Collectors, from the organization of the State government up to 1855 inclusive, as shown from the books and archives of this office.

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.

COPY OF CIRCULAR SENT TO DISTRICT ATTORNEYS.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
AUSTIN, Sept. 8, 1857.

Sir:—By the 9th section of the act defining the duties of District Attorneys, approved 13th May, 1846, you are required to report to the Comptroller, on or before the last day of October of each year, all monies collected for the use of the State, for the preceding twelve months. I have therefore to request that this report be made, as early as practicable, in order that I may be able to communicate the same to the Legislature, at the opening of the session in November next. You should be particular to specify on what account each separate amount has been received, and it would be a source of important information to furnish a synopsis of the situation of each suit under your charge, against defaulting Collectors of public revenue, and the probable ultimate success of the same, and when the amount will likely be available to the Government.

Those of the District Attorneys who have not made regular reports heretofore, will embrace in this present report all monies collected by them, which has not been accounted for previously.

If you discover any defects in our present revenue laws for the collection of public monies, or any additional legislation needful for the more wholesome collection of the revenue, I would be pleased to have your views on the subject, to the end that the necessary legislation may be had in the premises.

As it is exceedingly important to the State that the information here requested should be promptly furnished, I trust that it will receive your immediate attention.

Yours very respectfully,

JAMES B. SHAW,
Comptroller.
